Ransom & Randolph Announces Ortiz as Product & Application Engineer

Maumee, OH – August 24, 2017 – Ransom & Randolph (R&R) is pleased to announce Kelsey Ortiz’s appointment as Product & Application Engineer. In this role, Ortiz will be responsible for technical support to R&R customers, providing comprehensive product solutions and troubleshooting process issues.

Ortiz joins the R&R team with experience in customer technical support from Momentive Performance Materials and the Department of Polymer Engineering at the University of Akron.

“I am proud to announce the appointment of Kelsey Ortiz as our newest Product & Application Engineer,” said Scott Saxton, R&R Applications Manager. “We are confident that she will continue our tradition of providing foundries with extensive process knowledge, exceptional technical expertise and innovative product technology.”

Ortiz graduated from Trine University in Angola, Indiana, earning her Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering. Throughout her college career, Ortiz excelled as a student athlete, running cross country and track, while also providing leadership and guidance to fellow student athletes. She also enjoys kayaking, camping, hiking and volunteering in her community.
