Ransom & Randolph Announces Saxton as Application Manager

Maumee, OH – January 5, 2016 – Ransom & Randolph (R&R) is pleased to announce Scott A. Saxton's appointment as Application Manager. In this role, Saxton will be responsible for managing R&R's technical applications team. This encompasses implementing customized solutions and application technologies as well as coordinating problem solving measures on behalf of R&R customers.

Saxton graduated magna cum laude, earning his Bachelor of Science in Ceramic Engineering from the Inamori School of Engineering at Alfred University in Alfred, New York. During his time at Alfred University, Saxton held various co-op, laboratory and teaching assistant roles.

Saxton joins the R&R team with experience as a Ceramic Engineer at an aerospace foundry; where he served as the technical owner of the shell room; trialing, testing and implementing products into production.

"I am proud to announce the appointment of Scott Saxton as our Application Manager," said Michael J. Hendricks, R&R Business Unit Director. "We believe his abilities will benefit our customers and keep R&R at the forefront of technical service to the investment casting industry."
